Oakwood approves new residential parking ordinance

Only 35 percent of front yards can be used for parking

Oakwood residents now have some parking rules to follow at their homes.

The ordinance, approved at the Monday council meeting, changes city code to allow no more than 35 percent of the front yard of a single-family residence to be used for parking, with two additional parking spaces permitted to the side or rear of a residence.

The ordinance also addresses recreational and commercial vehicles, including school buses. Those vehicles would have to be parked to the side or rear of a residence on all-weather surfacing.
